

Purdue University
Department of Earth, Atmospheric, and Planetary Sciences
Visiting Assistant Professor

The Department of Earth, Atmospheric, and Planetary Sciences at Purdue University seeks a visiting assistant professor, to begin August 2013. This is an academic year appointment with the possibility of additional funding for summer teaching. The appointment is for one year, with the possibility of renewal. Applicants should have a Ph.D. in atmospheric or related sciences and previous experience in teaching is highly desirable. The successful candidate will teach introductory courses for Atmospheric Science majors in areas such as the physics of climate, atmospheric thermodynamics and atmospheric dynamics as well as courses for non-majors.

Screening of applications will begin March 18, 2013, and the search will continue until the position is filled. Interested applicants can learn more about the Department of Earth, Atmospheric, and Planetary Sciences at <http://www.eaps.purdue.edu> .

To apply, submit: (1) a cover letter, including contact information of three people who may be asked to send letters of reference; (2) a curriculum vita; and (3) statement of teaching experience and interests, to thompsow@purdue.edu with the subject line "Visiting Asst Professor - Atmos". A background check is required for employment in this position.

Purdue University is an Equal Opportunity/Equal Access/Affirmative Action employer fully committed to achieving a diverse workforce.