

Iberian Space Science Summer School (i4s), 26-30 June 2023, Coimbra, Portugal

We are pleased to announce the third edition of the Iberian Space Science Summer School (i4s 2023) which will take place on 26-30 June 2023. The school will be held in-person in Coimbra, Portugal at the Department of Physics of the University of Coimbra.

The main objective of the school is to provide professional development for young researchers in the domain of Space Weather, with an emphasis on the fundamental science of the Sun-Earth system, modeling, and forecasting.

More info below and for last updates, please visit:

<https://www.i4s-iberian-space-science-summer-school.com/>

Important dates

School is held on June 26-30, 2023

Application submission: from March 15 to April 30, 2023

Decision of acceptance/rejection to the applications: May 15, 2023

Application

Requirements:

- The school is open to both Iberian and international PhD students and young researchers.
- A potential student should be currently enrolled as a graduate student in any phase of training, or first or second-year postdoctoral researcher or technician/engineer with MSc.
- Background: major in physics with an emphasis on astrophysics, geophysics, and space physics, or experienced in at least one of these areas.

Documents needed:

It is mandatory to fill the application form and send by e-mail the following documents:

- Curriculum Vitae
- Cover letter briefly stating motivation for application and stating if financial support is needed and the justification.
- One reference letter from the supervisor or academic staff who know the applicant personally.

Only full applications that include (1) the on-line application form, (2) pdf file(s) with CV, a cover letter and a reference letter (the file name(s) must include the applicant name) sent to i4s.summerschool@gmail.com will be considered.

Contacts

Send your questions to i4s.summerschool@gmail.com

Other contacts:

Anna Morozova: annamorozovauc@gmail.com

Teresa Barata: mtbarata@gmail.com

Antonio Guerrero: aguerrero@uah.es

Fee, Living Cost and Financial support

- There is no registration fees
- Accommodation costs will be announced until mid-May on the website
- Limited accommodation support will be provided for students
- Limited travel support is also available for students from developing countries.