

Now Accepting Applications for Editor-In-Chief, JGR: Atmospheres

The Editor-in-Chief (EIC) is the principal architect of the scientific content of the journal. The EIC is an active scientist, well-known and well-regarded in his/her discipline. The EIC must be active in soliciting the best science from the best scientists to be published in the journal. Working with the other editors and AGU staff, the EIC is the arbiter of the content of the journal. Among other functions, the EIC is responsible to:

- Act as an ambassador to the author/editor/reviewer/scientist community.
- Set the strategy for the journal.
- Lead the editor selection process.
- Assign and balance review workload.
- Make decisions on ethical issues.
- Review and contribute to periodic monitoring reports.
- Conduct and attend meetings.

AGU strongly encourages candidates from outside the US to apply.

Information about JGR: Atmospheres' scope, as well as additional information about the position can be found on our website.

If you would like to be considered for this position, please send your curriculum vitae and your letter of interest to pubmatters@agu.org.

Please make sure to specify “JGR: Atmospheres EIC search” in the subject line of the email.

While the search process takes several months to complete, the review of applications will begin immediately.

Email questions to: pubmatters@agu.org.

JGR
Atmospheres

AGU
ADVANCING EARTH
AND SPACE SCIENCE