ABOUT THE FELLOWSHIP &
HOW TO APPLY

Brenninkmeyer Fellow candidates will choose from pre-selected Research Topics, and if invited, develop a research plan to address the topic in collaboration with their co-advisors. Brenninkmeyer Fellows will work closely with their advisors at both the Buzzards Bay Coalition and their partner institution and have access to the facilities of both organizations (e.g., laboratories, field sites, boats, libraries, previous data sets). Brenninkmeyer Fellows are expected to publish their results in peer-reviewed scientific journals.

The Fellow will receive a salary of $70,000 per year plus benefits and a $20,000 research support fund that can be used over the course of their fellowship to support their research by covering the cost of things such as supplies, journal fees, and conference participation.
